Gallery Submission Information

The Baccalieu Gallery is a seasonal fine art gallery located in Heart's Content, Newfoundland and Labrador and is approximately 130km from St. John's. The gallery is open from May to October, seven days a week, from 11am to 5:30pm.

The gallery showcases the palette knife art of Jeanette Jobson as well as original art from juried gallery artists. The gallery also offers quality products hand made by local artisans. All art in the gallery has a link to water, which can be interpreted in many ways by the artists.

Submitting artists should keep this aquatic link in mind when applying to the Gallery. Only art that has a water connection will be considered. This theme provides a very broad basis for the creation of art, so think outside the obvious, i.e., seascapes. Water is a source of life, transportation, food and so much more. It is home to a variety of plant forms as well as fish, mammals and birds. Lichen, water colours, reflections, seaweeds, rocks, the list goes on and on for water connections. Even the human body consists of up to 60% water!

Art submitted for consideration should be original work and available, created within the last three years, and framed or finished, if on gallery canvas. Gallery canvas is a support with a minimum depth of 1.5". Unframed pieces that are not on gallery canvas will not be accepted, with the exception of textile work such as rug hooking.

Art must be wired securely for each piece. Sawtooth or other hanging hardware are not suitable for the unique gallery hanging system.

Artisans submitting product (i.e., note cards, hand crafted items, etc.) should complete the Product Submission form.

Work chosen will reflect the gallery theme, offer a range of sizes and price points, as well as a variety of styles.

Decisions on acceptance of artwork or product are final. Art or product brought to the gallery without prior approval will be refused.
